

Call for Artists

The Fraser River Discovery Centre is seeking photographs for an annual exhibit called click* photos of the fraser*, opening Sept. 23, 2015. This year's theme is the colour red. We invite photographers of all ages, amateur and professional, to submit images for consideration.

Exhibit Details

From the Rocky Mountains to the Salish Sea, the 1375 km stretch of the Fraser River is home to almost 3 million people, each with a unique view of the river. click* photos of the fraser* aims to bring together a collection of these points of view with a juried, themed photograph exhibit. When thinking of the river, the colour blue often first comes to mind. This year we are encouraging photographers to take a fresh look at a familiar river and capture all the red.

click* photos of the fraser* debuted in 2010 as part of RiverFest, the Fraser River Discovery Centre's annual celebration of International Rivers Day. Each year a new selection of photographs is unveiled on the last weekend in September. This year, the jury will select twelve photographs for installation including a special honor for the three photographs which best reflect one of the Fraser River Discovery Centre's three pillars: Industry, Environment and Culture.

- in the galleries of the Fraser River Discovery Centre (September to August)
- across the Fraser River Discovery Centre's social media platforms (ex. each photo will be cover photo of the month on our Facebook page www.facebook.com/FraserRiverDiscoveryCentre)

Frequently Asked Questions

Where do I send my submission?

There are two ways to submit your photos.

1. Upload your photographs through the link on our Facebook page.
2. Use #clickthefraser on Facebook, Instagram or Twitter.

What will you do to prevent my work from being copied?

You will retain copyright of your images and the Fraser River Discovery Centre will not reproduce any image without your consent.

Can you tell me a bit more about the jury process?

The jury will select a total of twelve photographs reflecting the diversity of entries and the theme for the year. They will also decide on a photograph which best represents each of the Fraser River Discovery Centre's three pillars: Industry, Environment and Culture.

Who is on the jury?

The jury will change each year according to the theme. Please email exhibits@fraserriverdiscovery.org for details about this year's jury.

Is there someone I can contact with more specific questions?

Absolutely! Please email the Exhibit Coordinator at exhibits@fraserriverdiscovery.org with any questions.
